Remote Assistance from the Instructional Designer

Dr. Jon P. McKamey, Instructional Designer, is out of the office October 16-31. He will be monitoring email for any urgent needs.

Course Alignment Workshop (facilitated by Dr. Stephanie Stafford, Asst. Dean for Online Learning)

With the change to the Quality Matters (QM) rubric which now requires Course Alignment Maps, the OOL is offering workshops to support faculty looking to evaluate and construct course alignment maps. These workshops will review the alignment criteria and spend time walking through three phases to implement alignment into your courses. These workshops are geared towards all instructors, for all modalities. The sessions are repeated, so you only need to attend one of the offerings.

The dates this week are:

- Tuesday, October 17: 10-11 am
- Wednesday, October 18: 12 noon-1 pm

The workshops will be conducted on Zoom. To register and receive additional information, visit this link to the Microsoft form:

SPARK Series: GoReact – Tool for Authentic Assessment (facilitated by GoReact)

GoReact is an instructional application that provides instructors and students with a platform for recording, sharing, and evaluating video presentations and performances. The application is designed to help instructors provide feedback and support to students as they develop their communication and presentation skills. The tool can be utilized in a wide range of courses, and disciplines, and modalities.

Date: Friday, October 20, 12:00 noon-2 pm

The workshop will be conducted on Zoom. To register and receive additional information, visit this link to the Microsoft form:
